ICE BREAKERS

Icebreakers help you break down barriers, understand personalities, create inclusion, and start deeper bonds with your team. They work great for peer-to-peer meetings, informal groups and team introductions. While our similarities bring us together, our differences make our teams unique and interesting!

Fun Ice-Breakers

To Kick Off Your Group & Team and Meetings

- 1 Do you consider yourself an orange or an apple? Why?
- 2 If you could take a prop from any movie set, what would it be?
- 3 If your pet could talk, what would they say about you?
- 4 Tell us a weird fact you happen to know for no reason.
- 5 Tell us your favorite joke?
- 6 What is the best prank you've experience or planned?
- 7 What is your DJ name?
- 8 What is your favorite color and why?
- 9 What is your personal superpower?
- 10 What two things would you do if you were invisible?

SMALL GROUP STARTERS

- 1 Name a hobby or activity you enjoy. Common interests build chemistry, create conversation, and give you a place to open conversation.
- 2 What did TV show or movie did you like as a kid? This can reveal more about their personality style, dreamer, leader, visionary, inventor, creator, observer, worker, athletic, musically inclined, etc.
- 3 What song brings you up and out of a funk? Have them explain why it helps shift their mood.
- 4 Ask if they had a song to describe themselves, what would be their theme song?
- 5 Draw your neighbor. Start a five-minute timer. Have everyone sketch or draw the person next to or across from.
- 6 Two lies and a truth. Instruct the first person to tell two lies and a truth in any order. The person(s) listening guess which is true. This a great game to discover more amazing talents, experiences, and gifts that you may have never known about the individual
